

Biography: Bethany Morris

Bethany Morris holds a Bachelor of Creative Arts with a major in Music Performance from the University of Wollongong and a Master of Music from the University of New South Wales. She has been performing as a soloist and accompanist throughout Australia for the last 10 years and in 2002 travelled to New York to study and perform. In 2007 she worked as a répétiteur for the Ronald Dowd Operatic Mastercourse.

Bethany has taught piano and theory at the International School of Music, the University of New South Wales and worked in an accompanist position at the Wollongong Conservatorium of Music and the University of Wollongong. Bethany has also appeared as pianist in Children's Entertainment, Musicals and Cabaret.

Bethany is currently the pianist for the WIN Wollongong Symphony Orchestra and is working as a private piano teacher and freelance accompanist.